'Aylesbury' is a double brick Victorian Italianate home that has seen a significant transformation to merge its period charm with modern influences.

The current owners saw the potential with the original building blocks to create something quite special and that has certainly be accomplished with photos of before and after demonstrating this perfectly. There is some further room for the next owner to complete the project.

The floor plan is quite extensive and offers three to four bedrooms ranging in approximate size up to 4mtrs x 5mtrs while the lounge room is around 4mtrs x 5mtrs and family room 5mtrs x 5.5mtrs (approx) in area.

'Aylesbury' is also set on a generously proportioned block of around 950m2 with a garage situated in the backyard and it is suggested that further redevelopment potential should be explored. (Usual council approvals needed).
